Shasta Industries is working with Fairchild Air Force Base to improve their training facilities. Fairchild is located approximately 10 miles southwest of Spokane, Washington, where more than 5,000 people are employed. This particular base has played integral roles of the United States' defense strategy during World War II, the Cold War, and operation Iraqi Freedom. The project includes two pools; a lap pool and a wading pool. The lap pool features all competition components, lanes, starting blocks and lane ropes, for the swimmers use. It is a gutter pool with a surge tank, as well as holding tank, a draindown pump, automated valves and a draindown control panel. The Air Force Base will be using a wave ball in the pool to simulate rough water conditions and other training excercises. These aquatic and training centers are valued just under $900,000. Shasta Industries hopes to continue to build more commercial and olypmyic projects in the Washington area.

Shasta Pools & Spas' Commercial and Olympic division recently completed multiple pools at Casino Arizona's Talking Stick Resort. While totaling over $3.3 million, it includes nearly 20,000 square feet of swimming pools, garden pools, negative edge basins, canals, waterfalls and grand fountains. Upon entering the casino, you will notice a nearly 5,000 square foot fountain that prepares you for your Talking Stick Resort experience. Apart of the Salt River Indian Community, this resort is expected to attract thousands of visitors. "From the water features as your enter the spa, the negative edge basin on the 14th and 15th floor, to the garden pool that offers a different type of serenity, there is something for everyone," says Whitney Ast, Marketing Project Manager at Shasta Pools & Spas. Make a vacation out of it; roll the dice, read a book, and make a splash. Shasta Pools' Commercial and Olympic division has also completed other projects on Indian reservations such as Wild Horse Pass, Radisson For McDowell Resort, and the Hardrock Hotel & Casino in Albuquerque, NM.

Shasta Industries Commercial & Olympic Division was recently awarded 1 million dollar contract t in Prosser, Washington.

This project consists of building a new lap pool inside an old lap pool which was built in 1955. The lap pool will have eight lanes, 25 yards in length, with a rimflow and a new dropslide. There will also be a new recreation pool, which will include a beach entry, a play structure, a rimflow, and a 100 foot long waterslide.

This venture will give the city of Prosser its first pool with amenities for children.

Shasta Industries is headquartered in Phoenix, Arizona, and known for their residential swimming pool construction.

Shasta is also currently building an aquatic and training center in Spokane, WA., at the Fairchild Air Force Base, valued at $900,000.

“We are excited about getting these projects in Washington, while aggressively working on other commercial projects in the southwest region.”

Heading off to the dorms is not what it used to be! The Shasta Pools Commercial Division created a resort-style pool for Arizona State University's Vista del Sol dorm. The dorm opened to excited students this Fall who after dropping off boxes in their plush pads headed strait out to the pool for a long Labor Day weekend during the first week of classes.

"Shasta Pools Has built water parks for resorts as well as NCAA aquatic facilities such as Arizona State University's Mona Plummer Aquatic Center but bringing the resort-style pools to dorm life is an exciting new trend," noted John Neely, Senior Marketing Manager with Shasta Pools

Shasta Pools teamed up with Hardison Downey Kitchell and American Campus Communities as part of Arizona State University's "campus enrichment" projects.

Shasta Pools has been building projects for universities all over the Valley. Additional aquatic architecture for ASU, the University of Phoenix, Grand Canyon University and Estrella Community College have all been completed by Shasta Pools. It is amazing how many people are choosing to stay home and stay in their homes. Staycation is a new name for an idea that seems to be resonating with homeowners across the country. Many would-be vacationers are turning away from the go, go, go and choosing to stay home and truly relax. For those of us lucky enough to live in the Sun Belt, we can enjoy a Staycation almost anytime of the year. When you look at the financial aspects of a vacation vs. a Staycation it really starts to add up. For example, a brand new Shasta Pool will cost about as much as an average family trip. A reporter who was speaking on the radio recently noted that he had taken the family to Disneyland and the normally packed park was virtually empty. To read more on this article click here

ASU partners with ACC (American Campus Committees) to develop a new style of campus living. The South Campus Residential Community is located on the SE corner of Apache Boulevard and McAllister Avenue in Tempe, AZ. The intention of this community is to attract upperclassmen that are current ASU students. They hope to meet the needs of these students with apartment style living and amenities including a lounge, business center, barbeques and a pool/spa. The Shasta pools and spa in this new development is one of the exciting up-and-coming projects of the

Shasta Pools Semi-Commercial Division

. The project features custom coping, an abundance of sun deck lounging areas and shade structures. The pool area also includes a dual barbeque and a fire pit for residents to enjoy. For information on the

The completion of the Forest Highlands Swimming Pool remodel was marked Tuesday May 27, 2008. This project came to Shasta's Remodeling division from Flagstaff, AZ. Under the direction of the Forest Highlands management Shasta Pools was pleased to install a brand new plaster with blue quartz interior finish and a state-of-the-art CAT (Computer Automated Technology) 5000 Controller. Thanks to the CAT 5000 this 70,000 gallon pool will automatically maintain pH and chlorine levels. Via satellite, this advanced system will allow pool keepers to receive emails and text messages regarding the pool's health. The Forest Highlands team is pleased with the results of the pool and is excited for the residents to have this newly renovated facility as a hub for socialization.

AntiVortex Single Channel

The addition of the Anti-Vortex Single Channel (AVSC) Drain to the line of pool products offered by Shasta Pools is a great benefit to customers. The technology and engineering is leaps and bounds beyond what some competitor's are currently offering. This new drain is perfect for negative edge pools and can even be side mounted in the pool's interior. If your swimming pool needs more than one pool pump the use of the AVSC is highly advantageous. Instead of the need to plumb four main drains you can install just one AVSC Drain that will plumb to two pumps. Contact Shasta Pools at 602.532.3700 or visit us at www.shastapools.com for more information on the current products that are available for your new pool or swimming pool remodel. Shasta Pools and Spas is presently constructing a 5,500 square foot swimming pool combined with two oversized therapeutic spas for Grand Canyon University , the prestigious campus and online school offering Bachelor's and Master's Degree education. Located in West Phoenix, the University was founded in 1949.

Shasta Pools' Corporate Headquarters and GCU are very close in proximity, and are both well-known in the Valley of the Sun. The combined efforts to give the students a top-notch swimming facility make perfect sense.

“For nearly sixty years Grand Canyon University has placed the student first. This elaborate project came from direction given to us by the leadership at the GCU who asked only to do something great for their students,” states Bill Gullekson, Director of Sales for Shasta Pools Semi-Commercial Division.

Shasta Pools Semi-Commercial Division is a subsidiary of Shasta Industries, Inc. that designs and constructs Semi-Commercial pools all around Arizona and the United States.

Shasta Industries

consists of nine divisions and is founded on constant innovation and providing astonishing customer service.
